The Harrouns Come
to America

When Queen Elizabeth of England died in 1603 James VI of Scotland, a member of the Stuart family, came to the throne of England, as James I. The Stuarts ruled England for over 100 years, 1603-1714. The fact that James was a "foreigner" caused the English people to be rather critical and somewhat suspicious of all that he did. James proclaimed the doctrine of the "divine right of kings." He demanded conformity to the Church of England. He ordered a new translation of the Bible, with King James Version of the Bible as the result. During his reign, in 1618 the greatest and last of the Wars in Europe between Catholics and Protestants was begun, the fearfully destructive Thirty Years War, (1618-1648). In accordance with his plans for Scotland, he fell in with a scheme to plant Ulster, a northern province of Ireland, with Scotch and English Protestants, hoping that the nurture of such a colony in Ireland would uproot Catholicism in those parts, and supplant barbarism, thievery, and rapine with law and order. "Foot soldiers" were maintained in Ireland to aid in the promotion of the plans. A counter reformation prosecuted by Jesuit missionaries in Ireland created opposition to the Ulster plan.

Upon the death of James I in 1625, Charles I succeeded to the throne of England. Charles dissolved Parliament and levied illegal taxes in the form of forced loans. He paid his royal army with this money and forced the people to feed and house the soldiers. During this period he tried to force the Episcopal Church ritual on all inhabitants of England and Presbyterian Scotland. Thousands of Puritans came to America during this period. The people of Scotland drove the obnoxious church officers out of the country. Charles then planned to use his army to subdue the Scots.

Parliament came back into power and the army attempted to drive out all Presbyterians. A tribunal was created which tried the king as a traitor to his country and put him to death in January 1649. Cromwell ruled as a protectorate 1649-1660.

After the Restoration Irish exports of cattle excited the alarm of English land owners who complained that English rents were lowered and Irish pasture lands furnished too much competition. Laws were accordingly enacted in 1605 and 1680 prohibiting the importation from Ireland of all cattle, sheep, swine, beef, pork, bacon, and even butter and cheese.

Detrimental to Ulster were the acts passed in 1696 which excluded Irish vessels from American trade.

In 1699 the work of exclusion continued and a law was enacted prohibiting the Irish, including the Scotch in Ulster, from exporting manufactured wool to any other country whatever. After the revolution, however, another attempt was made to colonize Ulster with Scotch citizens. To hasten this, promises were made of cheap rentals, long leases, and opportunities for economic security. Again the stream of Scotch Presbyterians began to pour into Ulster, a province of northern Ireland. By 1715, probably 50,000 Scotch families had settled in Ulster.

But the earlier promises of low rents and long leases and support of trade with other nations were forgotten. In 1717 and 1718 rents were raised. The leases were broken up. The land began to be turned over to Catholic tenants. Presbyterian ministers were forbidden to perform marriages. Trade was closed between Ulster and England, or the American colonies. Woolen manufactured goods could not be sent out of the country. The hard-working, thrifty, industrious citizenship chafed under this injustice. America was pictured to the citizens as a haven of relief. The Presbyterian pastors did much in arranging for the migration. The Rev. Robert Higginbothan of Coleraine helped make arrangements for the transfer of the families located in the province in which the Harroun family and their neighbors lived. In the seven years 1714-1720 fifty-four vessels arrived in Boston harbor from Ireland with companies of immigrants. These people were soon moved to the frontiers. The Harrouns were in Boston by 1719. In New England the frontier was pushed to where Worcester now stands. The Scotch were trained to hardships and as Indian fighters they proved to be among the best. The lands given to the Scotch-Irish was by direct grant of the General Court of Massachusetts. By 1738 the frontier was pushed back as far as Pelham and by 1740 into Colrain, fifty miles north-west of Worcester.

Among the first settlers of Colrain, named after the town they had left in Ulster, were the following families:

The Clarks, John Sr.,and his Son, George
Morrisons
Pennells
Harrouns
(Alexander and brothers, Elliot and Jonathan.)
Hendersons
Cochranes
Hunters
Henrys
McClellans
McCowens
Taggarts
McDowells.

McClellan's Early Settlers of Colrain says:
"In June 1741 Deacon Alexander Harroun bought lots 62 and 63 in the 4th range, what is now the Roberts Farm, where he settled and where the family continued to live for nearly sixty years. In 1742, there was concerted action to protect themselves from Indians and Alexander Harroun and Andrew Smith were chosen as selectmen to devise ways and means for protection and in 1748 Deacon Harroun and others were still fighting Indians."

Family tradition says that the two brothers of Alexander Harroun, Jonathan and Elliott, were killed in the frontier battles with the Indians. According to family records, Elliott was killed in 1757.

In 1774 George Clark and David Harroun, son of Alexander were on the Committee of Correspondence to prevent mobs and riotous assemblies. George Clark was the youngest child of John Clark Senior and had married Alice Harroun, daughter of Alexander. The Clark family was as follows:

John Clark, Senior, m. Agnes Adams.
Children:

1. Jane m. William Gray
2. Matthew m. Jane Bothwell
3. Thomas
4. John m. Catherine Montgomery
5. James m. Mary Clark

6. William m. Mary Smith
7. Samuel m. Margaret Paul
8. Elizabeth m. John Stewart
9. George m. Alice, dau. of Deacon Alexander Harroun

George lived and died on the old home place.

Family Letters

Two boxes of letters are extant, written by the children of John Harroun and his wife Anna Smith. One of these boxes of letters is in the possession of John Thomas Harroun, Toledo, Ohio, Route 8, a descendant of John[3] through Levi[4] and Dr. Ezra[5]. The other box of letters is in the possession of Miss Susan E. Harroun and her sister, Fannie, 940 E. Del Mar, Pasadena, Cal. We are reproducing parts of these letters.

N. Y. 6 July 1846

Levi Harroun Esq.
Dear Sir:

Your favor of the 29th June last with one Ann dated Nov. 45 for both of which favors please accept our thanks; for good news from a far country is indeed very refreshing. Ann received a letter from Mrs. E. Brown at the same time for which please present our thanks when you see her. Mrs. Millar and our Eldest Son, Robert have just returned from a Journey to Pa. They went with a pair of horses and buggy to carry home Caroline Harroun (dau. of brother D. Harroun) who has been sojourning with us for a year or more to our (no great) satisfaction and I think with a decent degree of improvement during her stay. They left her at Fairview with her sister Clara. Visited Uncle Elliott and brother Russell and returned by Buffalo after an absence of ten days and appear much gratified with their visit.

I have always been determined to leave this country and try my fortune in the West, but have not been able to effect much towards it yet. In selling the Nash Farm (some years since), I took in exchange 160 acres of timbered land near Grand Rapids, Mich. and have thought of going there but thoughts of an entire new farm were rather appalling. During the last spring I exchanged our tavern stand and the Strong farm of 78 acres near the old Nash place for a farm somewhat improved containing 185 acres bounded by Rock River just below the mouth of the Kishwakey on the opposite side of the River and about seven miles below Rockford Winnbago Co., Ill. There is said to be on the farm a good dwelling house, part frame and the other part logs, about 40 acres improved and a thrifty plantation of apple and peach, the latter of which produced an abundance of fruit this last season. We have nothing now to detain us but our cottage house and out buildings, five acres of land and our crops on the ground which when turned, I think I shall pay my respects to the far west. If not satisfied with Mishchigan, then to Illinois, among the Winebagoes. If I should not like them as well as I do the Creeks, then huzza for Oregon. If not satisfied then, why --- on to California. If not satisfied nor vetoed by sickness, the king of terrors, or poverty, I think I should then go to sea.

Randolph March 26, 1824

To John Harroun
Pembroke, Genesee Co., N. Y.
Respected Brother:

Feeling the sense of my duty which I owe to myself and my friends in promising to write I acknowledge my error in delaying so long as I have. But waiting for an overturn in the affairs occasioned the delay, but as there has been none I can wait no longer knowing your anxiety to hear from me I attempt for the first time to address you by way of letter.

My health since I left Pembroke has been very good. My journey was very slow and tedious as it respects the going for it was very muddy. Other wise it was very cheerful for my health and vigor far exceeded my expectation. I arrived at my journeys end on the seventeenth about the middle of the day. I found that my arrival was altogether unexpected. They could hardly believe that it was I.

On the 18th. I went to Smith's wedding where I found it was good for me to be here today. There was a large concourse of people attending the wedding when I found myself in the midst of a multitude of strangers. I had like to forgotten to tell you that I found our friends all well in this place though they are not all well now. Samuel's wife on the 22nd. conceived and bore him a son. They are both doing as well as can be expected for it was a circumstance as little suspected by him as the rest of us and I'll tell you that it was a dry frolick indeed.

Cynthia wants you to draw off this New York beauty coverlet draft and write the directions for hanging the treddles and fetch it out when you come.

The boys think it not best to buy out Dave H. till fall but hire me through the summer for about ten or twelve dollars a month which I think is not the best way because I think I can earn more than that in a brick yard. Suppose, for instance, the labor I would do for them could be obtained for ten dollars a month which they say it can, and I could earn 20 a month. Half of my earnings would pay what I could earn for them. This mode I think would be most profitable.

I want you to see Maj. Boughton and see how much he will give me a month and pay the cash this fall. If he will give me 18 dollars a month it will be better than it will to stay here. That is if he will pay down.

This is not so good a place to make money as in Pembroke. I think the land is not so productive and produce never will be so high here as it will there. I would not advise you to sell the farm yet a while for there is double the chance of making money there than here and another thing, Samuel told me that if Smith had not been engaged here he never would have left Pembroke with a view of buying. I wish you would comply with my request and write immediately so that I may not be in suspense. I remain your affectionate

Brother

Amos Tyrell to Mr. & Mrs. A. S. Harroun

(Major Tyrell was member of legislature at Albany)

I had supposed that our legislators were generally indolent while here but I find I had laboured under a mistaken notion. I mean with regard to those that attend to business at all. I never was so busy in my life. I cannot get time to take the necessary exercise for my health nor even to answer my correspondents. There has been much "spouting" today in the house and we get along very slow.

Meadville, Pa. 1835

Amanda Sizer to Susan E. Harroun
Pembroke, N. Y.

Charles has been very sick. Sarah was taken down with intermittant fever and for nineteen days took no nourishment but water, gruel and crust coffee. Her fever ran for 30 days. Urbane was not expected to live till morning. Justin went to them and spent two days. He said it was truly a house of distress. Levi is calculating to go up after mother and Sarah tomorrow or next day. Justin says that John can clear five or six hundred dollars here in a short time with ease. The French are pouring in and will, I believe, eventually possess this whole land. Justin is resolved to sell his farm the first favorable opportunity. But where our lot is cast is unimportant. If we are prepared to inhabit that better country which hath foundation, it is of little consequence where we spend the remnant of our days upon earth.

Letter from Experience (Nash) Harroun, wife of John, to Susan E. Harroun, Pembroke, Genesee Co., N. Y.

I can scarcely realize the many changes that have taken place in your neighborhood since it seems hardly possible that my much loved Emaline[1] has paid the last debt and is now mouldering back to dust. I often picture her to myself as when I left her sitting up in the bed with her lovely babe sleeping at her side. There was a protracted meeting last fall held by the Presbyterians. David and Clara are engaged in the good cause. Brother Levi lives a little more than two miles from us. They are in good health. Our sister Dorcas means to be in fashion with her sisters in a few months in spite of the hard times. Clara's health is rather failing. I am happy to hear that Harry and Eliza Ann are doing so well. It gives me pain when I think that Emaline's[1] little boys will grow up and forget their Aunt Speda.[2]

[1]Samuel Harroun m. Emaline Guy. [2]"Speda," nickname for Experience.

Sylvania, O., Sept. 23,1839.

Experience Harroun, wife of John, to Mrs. Andrew S. Harroun, (Susan E.) Pembroke, Genesee Co., N. Y.

John was taken with the ague on the 26th of August, sudden and very severe. One fit scarcely left him before another came on. We finally succeeded Saturday in breaking it. Levi and family have been well through the summer until about two weeks ago. Dorcas was taken with a fever and has been pretty sick though she is now recovering. Deacon Harroun's family have all been sick a number of weeks. Chester and Harriet have barely escaped with life. A week ago they were all on the gain. Cousin Jane has also been sick. She has had the fever, but there are few about the village that have escaped this summer.

Your first inquiry will probably be what is the state of religion. I cannot have the pleasure of stating that it flourishes as in months past, or the cry is yet heard, "What shall I do to be saved. That degree of solemnity does not appear to possess the mind of every person as heretofore. The sighs of the wounded and the songs of the redeemed are not intermingled in our meetings as they have at some of those ever-to-be-remembered seasons that you and I have witnessed.

Amanda Sizer of Mead Twp. to Susan E. Harroun Pembroke, N. Y.

Your brother Samuel probably mentioned that his Sister Ann is no more. It is no fiction but a solemn reality. Two weeks ago this day we followed her remains to the silent grave. She had a violent cough. She seemed quite comfortable and appeared much pleased with her little daughter. Two weeks later she passed. Jacob and I watched with her that night. Almira carried the little babe to her. She looked at it and said,"dear little creature, I can't take care of you"and she said to H. "I want you to take care of her." I have just been down to see Mother Siler. We fear that she has putrid sore throat.

May 8, 1842 Sylvania, O.

Sister Eliza arrived here one week yesterday. We have swarmed and got a little Queen Bee. We call her name Sarah Jane. It happened two weeks yesterday. Experience is not able to sit up yet. The babe seems to be healthy. My own health is poor. I am troubled with soreness in my right side and at the pit of my stomach, and shortness of breath.

Eliza Cole to her brother Andrew S. Harroun

I took the boat at Buffalo at nine in the morning. We reached Dunkirk about 3 in the afternoon. We had a sick time of it. Will assure you the principal part of the passengers went up on deck, but the sea was so rough we were all glad to return. We touched at Erie, Coneaught, Cleveland, Huron. Reached Detroit about 8 Friday evening, then started on the same boat about 10 for Toledo arriving there about 4 Saturday morning. I arrived at Cousin David's about 10:00 A. M. and found them all sick. Levi did not much expect I should come this spring. Mother wanted to know what Levi's babe's name is. It is Henry Eugene. The sun rises in the south here.

To Andrew S. Harroun at Corfu, N. Y.

I mentioned Anner's sickness in a letter to Sister Terrell a short time since. She is still convalescent. I understand that Mr. White has given up keeping John. He told Deacon H. that John would never be contented to live with them. Now, Smith, what shall I do? It is but a few short weeks since I thought I had places for all my children. John says to write to Smith and see if he will take Andrew. Levi is here full of business. He had a man framing his barn. He expects to raise it next week Saturday. He works hard, early and late.

Justin Dewey to his sister Susan E. (Dewey) Harroun

You have long wondered why we can be contented in this place. The truth is we are not. The State of Society is becoming worse. The sabbath has become a day of recreation as well as business. The French Chapel is becoming a place of resort for those who wish to spend the day in parties of pleasure while our sanctuaries are much neglected. It is no uncommon thing at our raisings and other gatherings to see men from 5 or 6 nations. I sometimes hope that an avenue may be open for our departure to some other place, but if Providence has fixed this as the place of our residence, we ought to acquiesce. The Parson family have all gone to Wisconsin except Urbane.

Letter from Amos Tyrrell to Susan E. Harroun of Naperville, Dupage Co., lll.

We are prospered of the Lord and a temple to His name has been raised on Aunt Pattie's corner and is now in rapid process of completion under the superintendence of the prophet Levenworth. Several splendid private dwellings are now going up which adds much to the beauty and convenience of the city. Poor mother Cathcart's health has again failed her.

Ann Miller

Sept. 19, 1859--Ann Millar writes Levi,

Long years passed that we did not know until a year ago where Brother Samuel's children were. We were surprised to have a visit from Jennie, his only daughter and her mother. They had been East and were on their way home. Emeline is a widow and lives with her daughter who is married and lives in Warren, Pa.

Ann H. Millar to Sarah Harroun

We have had a visit from brother Samuel's children. Jennie came last winter and spent five weeks with her friends. We all love her. She is much like her father. Guy came from South America in June and spent a week with us. He is a young of superior mind, we think. He was married last month and is now with his wife on their way south. Sarah Jane is here with us. We think very much of her. John's letters to Bruce gave us particular of Susan's illness and death.

Apr. 8, 1860 Pembroke. N. Y. (Ann Millar writes Levi Harroun, Sylvania, Ohio)

I suppose Marie Tyrell has told you of her father's death, -very sudden. He had dropsy of the heart. The children are old enough to care for themselves. It will not be as when our father left us.

Did I tell you that sister, Susan, was dead? Brother Smith feels very disconsolate. He has lost a good wife and he feels as though he had no home. David Harroun of Sylvania has offered Sarah's farm for sale. She has a letter from Mrs. Holloway a few weeks since, telling her the same. Sarah is at her uncle's Mr. Nash at Batavia. Mr. Printup[1] of Sylvania has helped look after Sarah's interests. He was an old friend of Sarah's[2] father. Harriet[3] is married. Does she live near home? Our sister Cole is in poor health.

Letter from Annette Dodge Warren to Harriet Harroun Clark.

I'll try to tell you all I know about our genealogy. I know that our grandfather Harroun[1] was from Hebron, New Hampshire[5], I think that the three elder children, your father,[2] my mother,[3] and Uncle Alvin[4] were born there and remembered the removal to New York State. Our grandfather had several brothers! I remember the names of three or four. They were James, Elliot, David, and another, I think, was John a doctor. Uncle David lived about four miles from our home and my father's eldest brother married one of his (Uncle David's) daughters, a cousin of my father and your mother, so that the Dodge brothers married cousins, Laura and Eliza Harroun, and then a son of this same Uncle David, also named David, married my father's only sister, Clarissa, commonly called Clara Dodge. Our grandmother was Eunice Colby for whom your sister was named.

The Harroun Family

1. ALEXANDER[1] HARROUN according to family records was born in or near Belfast, Ireland, in 1691. He came with his two brothers, Elliott and Jonathan, to America about 1719, in one of the ships which brought many of the Scotch-Irish Presbyterians to the New England States. The Harrouns are listed with the Scotch-Irish Immigrants to this country. Alexander's wife was Catherine _____, born 1701, d. July 27, 1767 ae. 66. Alexander did not die till Dec. 20, 1784 ae 93 yrs. The residence of the Harrouns in Ireland was Coleraine, while in Massachusetts they settled north of Wooster about 80 miles, calling the district Colrain in honor of the Ireland Province.

Mc Clellan's book, "Early Settlers of Colrain" mentions Alexander Harroun as one of the early settlers as follows:

"In June 1741, Deacon Alexander bought lots 62 and 63 in the 4th range, what is now the Roberts Farm, where he settled and where the family continued to live for nearly sixty years.

"In 1742 concerted action to protect from Indians was made by the settlers. Alexander Harroun was one of these. He with Andrew Smith was chosen as selectman. They were clear-headed old Scotchmen.

"In Boston records of the French and Indian wars in 1747 under Lieut. Severance's command of Northfield, we find Alexander Harroun listed. In 1748 Deacon Harroun was still fighting Indians."

Children of Alexander[1] Harroun and wife:

2. ALICE[2] b. ab. 1724, m. George Clark the son of John Clark. George d. Aug. 29, 1792 in 71st. year. He left a widow and numerous offspring.

16. BEULAH b. Oct. 23, 1762
17. JOHN b. Mar. 16, 1767

The descendants of Alice Harroun and George Clark are quite numerous and are quite well scattered through-out the United States.

3. JOHN[2] HARROUN (Alexander[1]) b. 1737 d. Oct. 18, 1819 in 82nd year of his age. He m. Martha Henry b. 1737. She d. Nov. 20, 1818 in her 81st year. They moved to Washington County, N.Y. where they joined the Schagticoke Dutch Reform Church. Several indentures signed by John are now owned by a descendant, Frank Harroun, of Spencerport, N.Y. Nov.

2. 1784 an indenture was signed between Frederick Van Cortland of Lower Yonkers and John Harroun of Hosack in County of Albany. In 1802 an indenture was signed by John from the town of Cambridge in the County of Washington, N.Y. John's will was probated Mar. 9, 1820 at Salem, in County of Washington, N.Y. In his will he mentions Catherine, wife of Caleb Sweet, son John, dau.-in-law, Amy, relict of son, Ellet and son Oliver. John was in the Revolutionary War. Children:

4. DAVID[2] HARROUN (Alexander[1]) b. 1736. d. May 7, 1789 in the 53rd year. He married Elizabeth Anderson who was b. Dec. 23, 1741, d. Sept. 16, 1823. David Harroun in 1774 was on the committee of Correspondence with his brother - in - law, George Clark to prevent mobs and riotous assemblies. David Harroun fought in the Revolutionary War. The records are shown elsewhere in this volume and the Captain's commission signed by John Hancock is produced in full. David Harroun was also in the battle with the Shayites in their uprising in western Massachusetts in 1886-7. In History of Greenfield Vol. I, p. 266, David Harroun is mentioned as follows:

"When Chaloner was disabled by losing his arms, the swab was also blown away and destroyed. Nothing daunted by this dreadful disaster, Deacon David Harroun of Colrain immediately took his place and thrust his mitten into the cannon, the length of his arm and thus supplied the place of the lost swab, exclaiming at the same time, "Never mind boys, they haven't killed us all yet." David died shortly after this in the fifty-third year of his age.

Children:

24. JOHN[3] b. Apr. 5, 1769 d. Nov. 30, 1823 m. Anna Smith, May 31, 1792 at Shelburne, Mass. She d. Nov. 21, 1852. Res. Pembroke, Genesee Co., N.Y.

41. MABEL[3] m. Oct. 16, 1799 Enoch Dole. She d. in Shelburne, Mass.

19. ELLIOTT[3] HARROUN ( 3 John[2] ) was b. Oct. 18, 1762 according to the family records in possession of F. M. Harroun of Spencerport. According to the vital records of Colrain births on record in New England Historical and Gen. Soc., the date Oct. 17, 1761 is used and is probably correct. He died prior to 1820 for in that year the will of John mentions "Amy, relict of my son, Ellet." The spelling of the name Elliott was often contracted into Ellet by members of the family although the Bible record shows Elliott. The names of the children of Elliott are photostatic copies of the Bible record in the possession of F. M. Harroun of Spencerport. The record came from Mrs. Mary Brown, 319 W. Wesley St. (1911) Jackson, Mich., the dau. of Sarah Harroun, b. Mar. 8, 1800. In 1911, N. Dean Harroun wrote a letter from his home 902 Mich. Ave., Albion, Mich., sending the record. He was the son of Denison[5] (John[4] Elliott[3] John[2]). Elliott m. Amy Sprague. The Sprague genealogy by W. V. Sprague (1913) p. 209, gives the birth of Amy Sprague as Apr. 18, 1765. The family resided in Washington County, N. Y. until about 1805 when they moved to Onondaga Co., N. Y. and settled near Syracuse.

53. ELLIOTT[4]

20. OLIVER[3] HARROUN (3 John) b. Dec. 13, 1763. He m. Mary McCullock 1786. Mary was usually called Molly who was b. Sept. 25, 1764 and died Oct. 10, 1845 at the age of 81. Oliver d. Nov. 6, 1827 at the age of 64 yrs. He resided near Schagticoke, North of Albany. His father had married Martha Henry and "Martha" and John were christened in the Dutch Reform Church at that place, several miles north of Albany. Apparently Oliver and wife Molly also belonged to that church for on Oct. 28, 1792 they registered Anna who was four years old as being born May 9, 1788 and Salla who was two years old as being born Aug. 19, 1790. (N. Y. Gen. and Hist. Mag. 1932 p. 197.)

The family Bible containing the records of this line has been carefully preserved by the descendants of Oliver. For years it was kept by Ira D. Harroun of Spencerport and now by his son Frank M. Harroun, Union St., Spencerport, N. Y. Among the papers in the possession of Frank Harroun, is the will of John Harroun, administered at Salem, County of Washington, March 9, 1820 in town of White Creek. In the will he mentions Catherine wife of Caleb Sweet, sons

Oliver and John, dau.-in-law, Amy, "relict of my so Ellet Harroun."

Mr. Frank M. Harroun also has an Indenture dated Nov. 23, 1802, which deals with a land transaction. John was from town of Cambridge in County of Washington in N.Y. The witnesses were Andrew Henry and Rachel Henry, presumably relatives of John's wife, Martha. Another Indenture dated Nov. 2, 1784 bears the names of John Harroun of Hosack, in County of Albany and pertains to land at Hosack.

Oliver's will of White Creek, County of Washington, mentions wife Molly, daughter, Delia Melissa, son Oliver, son George, Anna Day, Sally Day, Martha Van Veghten and Mary Wells. Will administered in 1827.

We have been able to locate the family Bible records for Elliott b. 1761 and for Oliver b. 1763, but have not been so fortunate concerning John. The United Census shows the family in 1810 under his name. In 1820 the family is given with his wife Elizabeth as the family head.

Anna was born Nov. 13, 1766 and d. Nov. 21, 1852 age 86 yrs. They had nine children all of whom grew to maturity. The family from 1835 to 1870 migrated to various points in the west and their descendants are now so widely scattered and have lost contact with each other for so long that to get information about them is very difficult.

John Harroun was a farmer. The inventory of his farm equipment was made Jan. 30, 1824, shortly after his death in Genesee Co., N. Y. The inventory is published in this volume, pp. 4-6. The old family Bible owned by John was given to his daughter, Saloma, who married Maj. Amos Tyrrell. It is now (1940) owned by a grand-daughter of Saloma, Mrs. C. W. Carrier of Corfu, N. Y. She has copied for us the information contained in it.

John's children for fifty years carried on a correspondence with one another. Two stacks of these old letters have been found, one owned by 426 John[6] Harroun ( 200 Ezra[5], ) and the other stack owned by 368 Susan E.[6] and 369 Fannie[6] Harroun ( 169 John[5] ). Portions of these letters are found in this volume pp. 13-26. These letters have given us quite an intimate knowledge of the family.

John gave to his son, Andrew Smith Harroun, the Rev. War Captain's Commission given to his father, David Harroun, by John Hancock. It is still in the possession of members of the family.

The 1830 Census of Pembroke, Genesee Co., N. Y. gives the following:

Family of James Harroun

1 male under 5 yrs.
2 m. 10-16 yrs.
1 m. 40-50 yrs.
2 f. 5-10 yrs.
2 f. 15-20 yrs.
1 f. 30-40 yrs.

A letter written in 1850 by one of his nieces says, "Uncle James' 2nd wife left him a year ago. He is going to Illinois where Marie lives." We should like to know the names of James Harroun's children and descendants. We are told that one of his sons was Jonathan, b. 1825, and that another was David, b. 1814. We haven't been able to verify this, but we do find a record of Jonathan at Batavia, N. Y. In 1850 he recorded a deed. In 1870 he sold land to J. F. Lincoln. He made his will in 1871 and it was executed in 1875. In his will Jonathan mentions "daughter, Genevieve; wife, Maria Nooning, and son HOMER D.[4] Harroun." We believe that three of James' children were:

117a. DAVID[4] b. 1814
117b. JONATHAN 1825-1875. Res. Genesee Co. N. Y.
117c. MARIE who moved to Illinois.

In 1860 one of his nieces from Genesee County wrote, "Uncle James Harroun has had a sore on one of his limbs. He was here last winter."

43. ALEXANDER[4] Harroun (19 Elliott[3]) b. Oct. 6, 1787. He lived in Washington County, N. Y. with his parents until about 1805 when they moved to Onondaga County near Syracuse. He married Susan Balch and had twelve children, six sons and six daughters. Two or three of the daughters died young. The parents gave the children a careful religious training and five of the six became Methodist Ministers.

Susan Balch was the daughter of John and Lucy (Bowen) Balch and was b. Feb. 3, 1786. The genealogy of the Balch Families in American by Galusha B. Balch, M. D. of Yonkers, N. Y., published 1897 by Eben Putnam of Salem, Mass., gives the following regarding the family to which Susan and Calista belonged:

John Balch was b. Sept. 2, 1759 and died at Marcellus, N. Y., Nov. 10, 1845 and was buried at Amber, N. Y. He m. Apr. 6, 1785, to Miss Lucy, dau. of William Bowen of Lebanon, Ct. She was b. July 20, 1761 and d. at Marcellus, Nov. 10, 1849. Their ten children were all born in Connecticut.

45. SOLOMON[4] Harroun (19 Elliott[3]) was b. Sept. 1792 in Washington County, N. Y. He moved to Onondaga Co. with his parents about 1805. We do not have the names of his descendants. We hope some one will give us the information. That he married and raised a family near Syracuse, N. Y. is shown by the 1820 and 1830 Census records in Washington for Onondaga Co.

It is very likely that Solomon Harroun moved west to Michigan or Wisconsin with his family shortly after 1830 as nothing is heard from them again in Syracuse.

Very likely from this family came some of the Harroun families we have been unable to place in our chart.

In the Ohio Archaeological and Historical Society Publications, Vol. 14, p. 400, published 1905, is an article by S. S. Knabenshue of Toledo, O. In this article he tells of the Underground railway line established about 1815 and 1817, aiding slaves to escape north into Canada and growing in the intensity of its work until the Civil War put an end to the slavery system. A portion of the article is as follow:

> There was a station in Maumee, operated by A. C. Winslow, who operated a foundry. From there, if there was no close pursuit, fugitives were brought either to Toledo or taken via Detroit Avenue, to Monroe, Michigan, and then across to Canada. If the pursuers were close, the negroes were taken to the Sylvania Station, kept by David Harroun, Jr. and from there Hall Deland, the "Night Hawk" took them to the French settlers along the Detroit river, who ferried them across that stream to Canada.

Mrs. Alice Harroun Shaw, a great grand-daughter of David Harroun, writes as follows:

> One of the traditions in the Harroun family was that the old Harroun homestead in Sylvania, was a station on the Underground Railroad, and that my great grandfather Deacon David Harroun, was a very active worker.
> David Harroun brought the fugitives from Maumee, Ohio, to Sylvania, in two old lumber wagons drawn by horses. These wagons were in the family until a few years ago. They had plank bottoms and sides. Tht fugitives were covered with hay and the wagons were driven at night. The fugitives were hidden either at the Harroun house in the attic or in the loft of the barn. They were also hidden in the Old Lathrop place, which is now owned by Linton Fallis. The Old

Lathrop place was directly west across fields from the Harroun home.

From Sylvania, they were taken to Petersburg, Mich. and then to the Detroit River and over to Canada. My father, Hall Harroun used to tell about taking the fugitives to Petersburg, Mich.

Sometimes they were taken to Monroe, Mich. Lozetta Smith remembers her mother telling of the fugitives being taken to Monroe. She, Harriet Harroun Smith, told of seeing one intelligent young negro man kept at the Harroun Homestead. First he was in the attic and then he was taken to the hayloft in the barn.

The Sylvania route was used when the pursurer were too close to take the fugitives through Toledo.

117a. DAVID[4] Harroun (34 James[3])

[We have searched in vain for absolute proof of the parentage of 117a. David. We are convinced, however, that he was the son of 34 James. James had a son, David. The United States census report confirms our conclusion. David had personal difficulties. We found traces of his troubles in New York. His descendants have the same facts as traditions. He left N.Y. and went to Illinois about 1841.]

David was probably b. in Genesee County, N. Y. in 1814. He m. Caroline ab. 1804. Of his children, Lydia, Edward, and Clarrisa were born in New York State. He moved to Illinois about 1841. George and Horatio were born there. He moved into Rock Co., Wis. where Daniel and probably Smith and Caroline were born.

W. S. Harroun, M. D.

Santa Fe, New Mexico
Jan. 13, 1916

F. S. Harroun, L. L. D.
My dear Sir:

Your communication of the 9th inst., I have just rec'd. The Harroun family must be on the increase as I hear much more about it than in my younger days. I have not much to tell you.

My father was a soldier in the War of 1812: born in 1796 -- his father was in the Revolutionary War. My father came to Michigan in the year 1836 from western New York I was born in that year, the youngest of a family of five. I am now an old man in the 80th year of age. Have been a physician for more than 50 years.

I have two sons, both of whom live in San Francisco at present.

Where the name originated is more or less uncertain-- though it is said to have been traced back as far as the battle of Boyne -- and some claim an oriental origin for it -- Moorish? Of course these are only imaginary ideas; nobody, so far as I know has ever made any serious attempt to trace the name to its origin.

Thank you for your letter. I hope that all who bear our somewhat peculiar name may be good and true men and women.

Sincerely yours,
W. S. Harroun

208. CHESTER H.[5] Harroun (76 David[4]) b. July 17, 1829, at Corfu, Genesee County, New York, which is about 11 miles from Batavia, N.Y. He came to Toledo with his parents in 1835 and settled on a farm in Sylvania, Ohio. When still a young man he taught school and studied medicine. He took up dentistry and soon became an authority on many dental subjects. He practiced in Toledo 60 years, being the oldest practicing dentist in the state of Ohio. He retired at 83, only three years before his death, Jan. 8, 1916.

He used to tell in later years of having to pay Chas. Goodyear a royalty on every set of rubber vulcanized teeth that he made, until it became known that Goodyear was not the first to discover the process of making vulcanized rubber.

The Dentists then formed an association called the American Dental Association and fought the case and won. Years ago one of Dr. Harroun's most noted cases was a woman with a cleft palate. He operated on her hairlip, made a palate of rubber, took her in his home where his wife taught her to speak perfectly.

On Sept. 20, 1845 he married Emily Jane Cadwell, dau. of Aaron and Elmira Dow Cadwell, born in Phelps, New York, July 16, 1833. In the spring of 1836, Mr. Cadwell and family crossed the Maumee River on the ice from Perrysburg and built the first grist mill in Sylvania, Ohio.

The Harroun and Cadwell families were neighbors for a number of years and the children grew up together as playmates. 1856 Dr. and Mrs. Harroun took up their permanent home in Toledo, which was then a village of only 3000 inhabitants.

ANCESTRY NOT ASCERTAINED

There are a few Harroun families in America whose ancestries we have been unable to ascertain. We believe, however, that they are descendants of Alexander Harroun, the immigrant, and that their connection with his other descendants will be proved after a little more research. These families are given in the following pages.

DENNIS EDWARD HARROUN
(Ancestry Not Ascertained)

DENNIS EDWARD Harroun b. 1841, d. Mar. 6, 1894, at the age of 53 years. He came from the State of Michigan or Wisconsin, U. S. A. He m. Elizabeth Burden from Prince Edward Island. She was of English descent, born 1839 and died October 1, 1903, at the age of 64. One of the descendants writes that Dennis Edward left the army in the U. S. and went to Nova Scotia. So far we have not been able to find out anything about this in the war records at Washington, but there has not been an exhaustive search. In Nova Scotia he was a miner and later a carriage maker. His descendants say he had two brothers, one of whom went to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, while the other remained in the States. Stephen Harroun writes, "I remember my father often talking about having a brother in Chicago, but I do not remember his name." A granddaughter of Dennis Edward Harroun writes, "Grandfather, we understand, married grandmother in Boston, Mass. As far as we could learn, he deserted the army at that time and immediately left for Canada, settling at Stilparton, Picton Co., N. S. Whether he was afraid of being traced to N. S. for his desertion or for some reason that caused him to be so secretive, we do not know. Strange to say these are the facts. My father said that grandfather was from Milwaukee." Dennis and Elizabeth had 12 children:

1. ELIZABETH.
2. JAMES ALBERT b. 1863, d. 1935. Married in 1885 to Mary Jane Priest.

JAMES A. HARROUN

(Ancestry Not Ascertained)

W. F. Harroun of Mount Ayr, Iowa, was unable to furnish us with sufficient information to enable us to attach his line to the other Harroun Families in America. The father of W. F. Harroun is Arthur Harroun now (1940) 84 years of age residing in Clearfield, Iowa. Arthur had one sister, Ella, who died at Grant City, Mo., and one brother, James, who died at Clearfield, Iowa. W. F. Harroun has one sister, Lillie V. Harden, who now lives in Clearfield but who formerly lived in Flint, Mich.

The Father of Arthur Harroun was Alexander Harroun who, about 1820, was born in Indiana, place unknown, W. F. Harroun thinks that the father of Alexander Harroun was James A. Harroun. We are not able to locate him at this time.

DESCENDANTS OF EDWARD HARROUN

(Parentage Not Ascertained)

EDWARD HARROUN was b. in or near Cleveland, Ohio, in 1832. His father died shortly after this and the mother Marsha (Marcia or Martha) married F. Durand a merchant who moved to Wis., about 1842. (Hist. of Green Lake Co., Wis., 1860, by J. C. Gillespy). The 1850 Census at Washington, D. C., is as follows (Green Lake Co., Wis.):

F. Durand, 34, Merchant, b. Canada.
Marsha, 33, b. Penn.
James, 13, b. Ohio.
Eliza, 10, b. Ohio.
Rasiah, 6, b. Wis.
Henry, 8, b. Wis.
Mariah, 2, b. Wis.
Edward Herroon, 17, b. Ohio.
Edward Sumpson, 16, Clerk, b. Canada.

The 1860 Census, Aug. 8, 1860, of Green Lake Co., Wis. Family 2261 Edward Harroun 28 or 26? yrs. Merchant, married within the year to Martha (Family records say Martha Jane Rawson of Princeton, Wis. See Rawson Genealogy) Martha 22 yrs. old. b. N. Y.

Edward Harroun fought in the war between the States. Information from the War Department in Washington gives the following:

"Name of Edward Harroun, private, on muster and descriptive roll of detachment of drafted men and substitutes forwarded for the 1st Regt., Inf. Roll dated Madison, Wis., Dec. 31, 1863. Born, Ohio. Age 31 years. Occupation, clerk. Drafted and mustered in Nov. 24, 1863, at Princeton, Wis., for 3 years. Eyes, blue; hair, light; complexion, florid; height, 5 ft. 11 in."

1870 Census Village of Princeton, Green Lake Co., Wis.
Edward Harroune 38 yrs. Justice of Peace. b. Ohio
Martha J., 31 yrs. Real Estate $800.
Edward R., 9 yrs., in School. b. Wis.
Julian W., 6 yrs.
E. Grace, 4 yrs.

To the above should be added Harvey Ray, b. ab. 1871.

Of the above children of Edward and Martha, Edward R., was the only one who married and had children. He m. in St. Paul's Cathedral, St. Paul, Minn. May 12, 1886, Elizabeth Frances Delaney. She was b. Oct. 1, 1857. They had the following children:

MARY G. Harroun b. in St. Paul, Aug. 6, 1887. She was educated in the parochial schools of Minneapolis. Grad. from St. Margaret's Academy and the University of Minnesota. She is now (1940) a teacher of Chemistry in the Edison H. S., Minneapolis, Minn.

ANTHONY EDWARD b. St. Paul, Minn., in 1890. He attended the parochial schools of Minneapolis and the Minnesota College of Law. He is a practicing attorney in Minneapolis. He m. Feb. 2, 1918, Mary Elizabeth Lydon of Duluth, at the Cathedral in Duluth. Children:

Joseph Anthony b. Nov. 11, 1919.
Bernard M. b. Oct. 26, 1922.
James Frances b. Nov. 13, 1925.
Mary Elizabeth b. Oct. 13, 1927.

Edward R. Harroun left Minneapolis for Nevada about 1907. He became Editor of the Tri-weekly Silver State Newspaper at Minnemucca, Nevada. He remained there till his death in 1917.

[We believe that the ancestry of Edward Harroun b. 1832, will be found. If we are able to find his connection with the other families the information will be given in "Errata et Addenda" to be published later.]

REVOLUTIONARY WAR RECORD
DAVID HARROUN

Son of Alexander Harroun was given the Commission of Captain of the Second Company in the Fifth Regiment of Militia in the County of Hampshire, Massachusetts, December 12, 1781. The Commission was signed by John Hancock. The original paper has been in the family since 1781 through the following line of descent: David[2], John[3], Andrew[4], John[5], to the sisters, Susan[6] and Fannie[6], who now own it. We have had photographic copies made of this Commission and we are able to sell them at twenty-five cents each. Stamps are acceptable. These photographs are approximately 4½x5½ inches in size and considering the fragile condition of the original paper are quite legible.
